

Aerial view of the Tinian docks at the end of the War. During the unloading of the bomb parts, the Indianapolis and the LCTs were located just out of view near the harbor entrance in the foreground of this photograph.

Above: The LCT-354 on the beach at Tinian in the Mariana Islands, 1945.

Right:
Ensigns Charles Lopez and Erling Podoll pose under the fuselage of a B-29 bomber on the runway at Tinian Island.